Co-founders and optometrists Namita Kulhalli and Sashi Singh opened their first practice in Fiji in 2017, driven by a vision to bridge the gap between premium eye care services and affordable designer eyewear. They recognised the inaccessibility of eyewear for many due to high prices and aimed to change that. Their boutique concept in a mall setting focuses on personalised, top-notch eye care and understanding customers' needs. They offer international eyewear brands like Ray-Ban and Prada, along with their own brand of frames. In essence, their story reflects a commitment to making eye care more accessible and providing a unique, customer-centric eyewear experience.
