At Yew Immigration Law Group, a P.C., in San Jose, we provide immigration law services to clients throughout California and across the world. Immigration law is all we do. Attorney Alison Yew keeps up to date on all changes to this constantly evolving area of law so that we can provide exceptional legal representation to our valued clients.

The people we serve include those wishing to immigrate to the United States as well as U.S. citizens and green card holders acting on behalf of family members. We also represent businesses that need help hiring foreign workers and maintaining compliance with U.S. immigration laws.

We never forget that behind every immigration law issue lies a person with a family, a job, a dream, a life. Every case is important to us because we know that at its heart, immigration law is about people.
