Portugal Government

Rua da Imprensa à Estrela, 4
Lisboa, 1200-888
Portugal
213 923 500
213 923 379
portugal.gov.pt

Company logo

Company logo

The Constitution is the country's supreme law. It enshrines the fundamental rights that pertain to citizens, the essential principles that govern the Portuguese State, and the major political guidelines with which the latter's entities and organs must comply. It also lays down the rules for organising political power.