The main focus of our company's activities is the development of software for message exchange and team collaboration. A significant portion of these efforts are targeted to Microsoft® technologies, such as Microsoft® Exchange Server, Microsoft® Outlook®, and Microsoft® Office. Our products include a small add-in for Microsoft Outlook, which is intended for individual users and small businesses. We also feature Microsoft Exchange Server extensions for medium and large corporations. Because our team is comprised of people who are both developers and end users of Microsoft Products, we are uniquely able to identify the needs and possibilities which best deserve the application of our best efforts toward the improvement of the existing systems. This strength enables us to create extremely helpful and invaluable products. MAPILab currently employs a very motivated team of more than 25 highly skilled specialists, each possessing advanced degrees in his or her field of expertise. Together they enjoy a very focused and challenging working environment, and are provided with the very latest technology in software tools for development, testing, and quality control. Our main development environment is Microsoft Visual Studio. While larger companies are focused on the creation of platforms and technological foundations, we see our own mission in providing highly targeted, and extremely effective solutions to meet the needs of a narrow band of specific users. We create comprehensive and yet simple solutions for this niche community. By keeping in close contact with our users, together with our ability to be quick on our feet, and our willingness to rapidly adjust our workload to solve a pressing problem at hand -- that is and always will be the cornerstone of our success.
