At Jakanda, we are award-winning home builders specialising in first floor additions and ground floor extensions to your home. We build custom homes and offer complete comprehensive builds from the point of design all the way to completion. Jakanda has been in operation for over 20 years and is a family-run business operating out of Penrith in Sydney. Headed up by Terry and Michelle Becker, we provide customers with quality workmanship and truly professional service, from start to finish, including help with council submissions of plans.
