The Philadelphia Piano Institute, the region's leading piano school, helps beginners, intermediate musicians, and advanced pianists reach their goals on the piano. You may want to sight read Bach, learn a Prokofiev concerto, or become a singer-songwriter - we are happy to help you succeed. We take a fundamentally sound approach to music education, and you will become well-versed and confident in your instrument and music in general.

We are also excited to offer new voice and guitar programs, and we work with musicians of all skill levels in those capacities as well.

Please get in touch for more information - we would love to hear from you.
