Modern Copper

10900 Research Blvd Suite 160C,
Austin, 78759
United States
+18669018820
https://www.moderncopper.com/

Company logo

Company logo

That's why a custom hood vent is often a necessity. While many brands don't offer such a service, our range will impress you with its high degree of customization, as well as the modern and sophisticated designs that can complement any type of kitchen design out there.
Our custom kitchen hood is extremely diversified in terms of looks. You can have classic square lines, as well as concave or convex round and sleek options. You may as well opt for a mix, or whatever you think may complement your kitchen.
Trapezoidal shapes are just as common among our contemporary range hoods, and while the look is everything in terms of design, we also offer plenty of customization. You'll be able to pick the color, overall finishing, trim color and, of course, the perfect size for your available space.
Our designer range hood models aren't all about good looks but also about performance. The stainless steel build will last for years, yet we also rely on other materials for trims and parts.

Performance isn't to be overlooked, either. Apart from looking great, our hoods will also be able to suck steam and odors using the latest technologies on the market, so there are no issues whatsoever with their overall purpose in the kitchen.

Generated by Mapolist.com 19/11/2026 15:30