Ergo Therapy Group are dependable in home occupational therapists servicing the Melbourne area. Our goal is to ensure every participant we work with can accomplish their objectives and increase their autonomy. We assist all individuals regardless of age, injury, illness or capabilities and strive to optimise their engagement in the way they lead their life.

Our services began with a consultation that is then followed by a collaborative occupational therapy assessment. Once this has been agreed on by all participants the plan can be put into action. We offer functional ADL assessments for determining an individual’s ability to go about daily activities. An AT assessment can be conducted when specialised equipment or technology is required. If your home needs adjustments, we can furnish major or minor home modifications. Our qualified occupational therapists provide SIL assessments to determine participants eligibility for support services. We offer life skills training to increase our client’s self-reliance and self-confidence.

Reach out to us today to learn more about our Melbourne occupational therapy services. Our friendly experienced team of professionals is ready to help.
