Poulos & Coates is a firm of trial lawyers with more than 70 years of experience representing victims of medical negligence and their families. We are a strong team of attorneys that share valuable experience in the fields of medical practice and are in the courtroom almost every day. We dedicate our energies to get you through the complexities of the legal process. We are the only New Mexico law firm specializing in medical malpractice litigation that has a doctor and two nurses on staff. In addition, we have obtained more than $300 million in gross recoveries for our clients through verdict or settlement.

We are the award-winning legal champions you want in your corner.

Our commitment is to take care of our clients and their families to ensure we are delivering the best representation possible.

If you are ready to speak to an expert, schedule a no-charge consultation with our offices today.
