At Willship International, we are your dedicated partner in global logistics, specializing in international freight shipping and customs brokers. Our experienced team of logistics consultants is committed to providing exceptional services tailored to your unique shipping needs, whether you're an individual moving abroad or a major Australian brand like Baskin Robbins or Norco.

We pride ourselves on our customer-centric approach, catering to both one-off shippers and large-scale businesses. Our commercial freight division focuses on optimizing supply chain management for local Australian companies engaging with international suppliers or markets looking to either export from Australia or seeking shipping to Australia. We ensure that your operations run smoothly and efficiently, enhancing your global reach with expertise you can trust.

For those in the automotive sector, our specialized automotive freight division offers seamless door-to-door transportation for a variety of cargo, including cars, caravans, boats, and machinery using our sea freight services. We handle your valuable assets with care, ensuring they cross international borders safely and efficiently.

At Willship International, we strive to be recognized as leaders in service excellence. We understand the complexities and project logistics of international trade and leverage innovative solutions, such as our air freight services, and advanced technology to simplify the shipping process for you. Our goal is to build lasting relationships with our customers based on trust and mutual success.

With over a billion dollars of cargo entrusted to us annually, we are proud to manage thousands of successful shipments each year with our Brisbane warehousing and transport services. Our deep relationships with more than 125 trusted worldwide agents ensure that we remain agile and responsive in an ever-changing logistics landscape. As pioneers of the Trans-Tasman route for automotive cargo, we provide our clients with thorough, up-to-date information from start to finish.

Transform your international shipping experience with Willship International. Contact us today using our online form, by giving us a call or by email us and discover how our unrivalled expertise and commitment to service excellence can exceed your expectations.
