Genics Inc

27717 Acheson Rd,
Acheson, T7X 6B1
Canada
+17809621000
https://genicsinc.com

Company logo

Company logo

At Genics Inc., we don’t simply preserve wood—we transform it into a resilient, long-lasting asset capable of withstanding the challenges of time, climate, and biology. With over 40 years of applied science, innovation, and field-based expertise, we are proud to stand at the leading edge of environmentally conscious wood protection technology.

Our mission is grounded in a simple yet powerful philosophy: combine scientific precision with sustainable practice to create wood treatment solutions that are as safe as they are effective. Every formula we develop is the result of intensive research and testing, purpose-built to protect wood from the most aggressive threats—decay, insects, and fire—without compromising the environment or human health.

What sets us apart is not only what we protect wood from, but how we do it. Genics’ advanced treatment systems are free from harmful fumigants and toxic preservatives that once dominated the industry. Instead, we offer deeply penetrating, long-lasting solutions that work from within the wood’s core, extending its structural integrity while remaining safe for ecosystems, workers, and surrounding communities.

Whether it’s a remote utility installation, an urban infrastructure project, a marine pier, or agricultural fencing, Genics delivers scalable, high-performance solutions to a wide range of industries. We proudly support utilities, municipalities, transportation networks, marine operations, forestry, and farming, each with tailored strategies that reduce lifecycle costs and enhance regulatory compliance.

But innovation alone isn’t enough. Our work is driven by a responsibility to the planet. Every treatment we produce is part of a greater commitment to reduce waste, extend material lifespans, and promote sustainable building practices. By helping clients preserve wood longer and smarter, we contribute to a future where resources are protected, not depleted.

With Genics, you gain more than a product—you gain a partner in protection. Our team brings technical insight, environmental awareness, and a results-driven approach to every project, ensuring your wood assets are not only preserved, but future-proofed.

Generated by Mapolist.com 14/11/2026 23:51