Established in 2020 and headquartered in Amritsar, Punjab, India, Brandlogg is a dynamic and growth-driven branding and marketing agency committed to transforming businesses into globally recognized brands. We specialize in crafting strategic roadmaps that provide a 360° perspective on brand positioning, enabling businesses to enhance their visibility and establish a strong market presence.

With extensive experience working with both corporate enterprises and startups, we understand the nuances of brand development and the evolving digital landscape. Our approach is rooted in a deep understanding of consumer behavior, market trends, and data-driven insights, allowing us to create highly effective, optimized campaigns tailored to specific business objectives.

At Brandlogg, we go beyond conventional marketing strategies by combining creativity with analytical precision, ensuring that every campaign delivers measurable and tangible results. Whether it’s brand identity development, digital marketing, performance-driven advertising, or strategic consulting, we empower businesses with the tools and strategies needed to scale, grow, and thrive in a competitive marketplace.
