First Aid Training Services Ltd provides professional and practical first aid training for individuals, businesses, schools, and organisations across the UK. The company delivers a range of recognised courses designed to help people develop the knowledge, confidence, and practical skills needed to respond effectively during an emergency.

Training options include Emergency First Aid at Work, First Aid at Work, Paediatric First Aid, Basic Life Support, Mental Health First Aid, and other workplace and specialist first aid courses. Courses are designed to be engaging and easy to understand, with practical training that helps learners feel confident applying their skills in real-life situations.

First Aid Training Services offers flexible training options to suit different requirements, including in-house training for organisations, open courses, and online learning where appropriate. As an Ofqual-approved Qualsafe Awards centre, the company focuses on delivering structured, high-quality training that meets relevant workplace and certification requirements.

Whether you are an employer looking to train your staff, a school preparing your team for emergencies, or an individual wanting to develop essential first aid skills, First Aid Training Services can provide a suitable training solution tailored to your needs.
